Supers hold firm on courthouse plans

BY ED LEPOMA Staff Writer

Hancock County supervisors have agreed to spare a magnolia on the front lawn of the historic downtown courthouse, but five other diseased trees will be removed.

The Board of Supervisors was greeted Monday by some downtown business owners and several citizens, who particularly asked them to spare two huge sycamores and to cut down on the proposed number of parking spaces in order to leave more green space around the courthouse.

The debate went on for more than an hour, and began while the 3rd grade class of Bay Catholic Elementary school sat in the boardroom. The class had come to receive certificates for completing a citizenship class, and board President Rocky Pullman earlier, them "Sometimes things can get a little heated around here."

The opposition to the new landscape plan for the courthouse was led by Pat Cucullu, who told supervisors she and others had gathered signatures of more than 340 citizens opposed to removing the sycamores. She said the opponents also wanted the board to cut down on the number of parking spaces on Gex and Cue Street in order to keep some surrounding green space.

Cucullu suggested supervisors find alternative parking areas when the courthouse crowds up on court days or when the board meets. She said she received word late Monday morning that the First Baptist Church would allow overflow parking in its lot across from Main Street during busy days.

Cucullu said a small map could be printed up and mailed with court notices; highlighting public parking areas within a two-block radius of the courthouse.

There will be a benefit dinner to help pay medical bills for Randy Tartavoulle Saturday, May 18, 5-8 p.m. at Main Street United Methodist Church Rebecca Hall.

Cost will be $5, and takeouts are available.

Also, there is an account set up at Hancock Bank. The number is 01 2701391. Those who would like to deposit into the account may go to any Hancock Bank.

Arts and Creative Crafts Show at D'head

The 19th annual Arts and Creative Crafts Show at Diamondhead will be Saturday, Sept. 28 from 9:30 a.m. till 5 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 29 from 11 a.m. till 4 p.m. on the County Club Circle and grounds.

More than 100 booths will be set up with handmade crafts and multimedia art works for sale.

Diamondhead Country Club will provide sandwiches and drinks at an outside concession. Diamondhead is located at Exit 16, off Interstate 10. All proceeds from booth space fees are donated equally to Diamondhead Youth Organization, and the Diamondhead Community Continuing Association Education, non-profit organizations.

She also suggested on "special event" days, courthouse employees could park somewhere else.

The board listened to Cucullu's suggestion with little comment, then went on to take up the agenda of the acting county road superintendent, but others asked to speak on the landscaping plans.

Pullman called up Ed Wikoff, the lead architect for Compton Engineering, to explain the landscaping and parking plan included in part of a contract to renovate the old courthouse and make it handicapped accessible. That plan was approved by the board at its last meeting.

Before that, District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour told Cucullu he met with Wikoff and convinced him not to remove the large Magnolia at the corner of Gex and Main Streets.

Wikoff explained that all the trees and shrubbery surrounding the courthouse were inspected by an arborist.

said the two He sycamores on the east and west sides of the courthouse were found to be diseased. show advanced signs of rot and infestation, and are a liability to the county since limbs or the whole trees might fall in the event of a major storm.

He said three existing trees facing Main Street (a Southern yew) have already caused damage to the courthouse foundation and steps, and if left there, could cause further damage.

Wikoff pointed out landscaping will take an asymmetrical shape facing Main Street, and another large magnolia will be planted to complement the one being spared.

New landscape plans also call for the addition of two live oaks, two crepe myrtle's, two sweet olive trees he said. There are also plans to plant azaleas, Indian hawthorns and dwarf yupons.

Pamela West, an attorney whose office is located on Gex Street alongside the courthouse, pleaded for supervisors to spare the large sycamores.

She drew the ire of county attorney Ronnie Artigues when she began to grill Wikoff on whether plans were ever discussed to treat the diseased trees rather than chop them down.

Artigues said the decision was made because the sycamores represented potential liability problems for the county. "As soon as that tree falls on your car, as an attorney, you would be the first in line," (to sue), Artigues predicted.

Ellis Anderson, whose jewelry store fronts Main at Gex Street, said she would Americans with Disability water oak, live oak and be glad to sign a waiver Act. holding the county harmless should the sycamore damage her property.

> Pullman sat through most of the debate before announcing, "I don't intend to alter the plan." He said the renovation of the courthouse and the landscaping plan developed over the course of almost three vears, and he felt the proposal accepted by the county was the best for the overall community.

'We didn't get here lightand one Chinese pistache, ly," he said. "I think the trees need to go. I'm not going to change my mind."

He agreed there were times when there is adequate parking around the courthouse, but said there were also times when parking space is at a premium.

After the crowd left, Artigues suggested supervisors amend the contract for the landscaping and courthouse renovation already signed with GM&R to delete plans to uproot the large magnolia, but that was the only consolation made to the opponents. The vote to amend was unanimous, and Wikoff told supervisors he planned a pre-constuction meeting with the contractor later in the week.

The board has awarded a $1.3 million contract to GM&R of Waveland to bring the old courthouse up to standards mandated by the Plans call for an elevator tower to be installed in the rear of the building, parking spaces for the handicapped and renovations to all interior offices, the Circuit Court room and the board meeting room.

The landscaping package was part of the overall proposal to add more parking spaces on adjacent Gex and Wikoff said he hopes construction can begin in mid-May with substantial completion within six months.

All offices in the courthouse will remain open during construction, but as work progresses, some operations might take up temporary space at locations around the county to be announced.

Hundreds are making sure their walking shoes are ready for the American Cancer Society's 2002 Hancock County Relay for Life at the Hancock County Walking Track in front of Hancock Medical Center Friday from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m.

John Baxter is the gener-Society benefit and reports there are some 38-40 teams, which means some 300 to 400 Relay for Life walkers.

There will be all types of activities, entertainment and different types of food available during the event.

Every team will be trying to out-do the others in several types of competitions.

Among the highlights of tion. the night will be the 7 p.m. walk around the track by cancer survivors. This special walk is for any and all cancer survivors, and all are invited and urged to attend.

Among those leading the walk should be Mary Michael Collins, a 6-yearold student from St. Clare School in Waveland, who at her young age is a cancer survivor.

In our Sunday, May 5 edition of the Echo, there was a feature story on Mary Michael and her family and her battle with cancer which began at the age of 2 years and six months.

Higher taxes, high cost for sewage disposal and mobile home ban hinder development

To the Editor:

I have sold hundreds of lots within the last 20 years (many of these in Shoreline Park).

I have not increased my prices during this period. With sewer lines having been installed, it might be assumed that the value of lots would increase, however, my sales are down.

The reason probably being that fewer prospective buyers can afford $2,640 for a grinder pump plus $35/mo.

Now, to add insult to injury, when I received my tax statements on most of my Shoreline Park lots, I was shocked to see that the true value assessment has been increased from $630 to $4,000 per lot. This is over six times what the assessment was for 2000.

The Tax Assessor has reduced appraisals to $2,000 per lot - which is still more than

I predict that if the idea of skyrocketing the tax assessments persists, many lot owners will not pay, the lots will not be sold at tax sales, that they will go to the state and that the state will not be able to sell them, thus drastically shutting down development as well as possible even reducing the county's tax income.

This increase in assessments seems to run handin-hand with the mobile home ban.

If in certain areas of Shoreline Park they cannot justify the ban, then keep the cost for sewerage disposal up and increase the taxes to make them unaffordable to middle and lower income people who can only afford mobile homes.

At present, less than 10% of the lots in Shoreline Park, Bayside Park and other similar subdivisions are occupied.

At the rate of permits issued in 2001, less than 10% of the now vacant lots would be occupied in 10 years, especially if for homes only. progress?

I estimate that over 20,000 vacant lots exist in Shoreline Park, Bayside Park and other similar subin Hancock divisions County.

I have sold less than 3% for the purpose of building homes on them. Old rackedout homes and mobile homes already exist, and people are not apt to build nice homes there.

Progress would be to keep taxes low and to keep the cost of sewerage disposal to a minimum and to allow neat mobile homes.

Post meeting minutes on-line

Dear Editor,

The recent controversy over the plans to drastically change the landscape around our county courthouse has made one thing very clear.

Citizens in Hancock County want to have a say in our government. In only 10 days, over 350 signatures were collected in an effort to have the county supervisors reconsider the current

That's a wonderful thing. It's the way the founding fathers of this country intended the government to work. And everyone who took a stand on either side of the issue should be proud.

However, in today's incredibly busy world, it's often difficult for people to attend meetings where important issues are being discussed.

Too often, as a community, we only hear about these issues after plans have already been set into motion. As a result, community participation after the fact is often frustrating to officials. They are less inclined to change plans than to accept input to formulate them.

Here's a suggestion: If the board of supervisors, the school board and the city councils of Bay St. Louis and Waveland were to post the minutes to meetings on line, the information discussed would be easily accessible to anyone with an interest. This could be a simple and inexpensive solution that would neatly solve everyone's problems.

Let's be grateful that we live in a community where the citizens care enough to want to help shape the future and in a country where the voice of the people is not only welcome, but wanted.

A "natural" for future state leadership is how Pierce's most enthusiastic backer, state Rep. Billy McCoy (D-Rienzi), chairman the powerful House and Ways Means Committee, describes the bespectacled Greene County lawmaker.

"For my part," says McCoy, the Northeast Mississippi veteran of many legislative battles not known for extravagant Lt. Gov. Amy Tuck." praise, "I think Randy is He said he was " capable of being president of the United States."

Well, Pierce will quickly tell you, he has no such lofty aspirations. But he does have aspirations to seek higher state office at some point. When and which office is a decision he will have to make in the next few months.

No matter what his political future might hold, Pierce makes it quite clear his primary objective at this point in his career is to represent, and represent well, sprawling House District 105, a rural enclave spread across Greene, George, Perry and Stone counties.

"My people are country Democrats and they'll remind you not to get 'too big for your britches," he says of his beloved political base. However, he admits: Mississippi 'boys' and 'girls'

"Lots of folks back home say 'Bubba, you're going to be governor one day," and offer support if he seeks statewide office.

Governor doesn't seem to be in his plan at this stage. But lieutenant governor very well might be.

He is frank to say, in the wake of the virtually-disastrous 2002 Legislature: "I am disappointed in the leadership styles of both Gov. Ronnie Musgrove and

He said he was "not just blaming" Tuck for the collapse of several major legislative issues in the Senate where she presides, "but I believe we needed stronger leadership there."

Meantime, Pierce's exceptional training - he is both a lawyer and a Certified Public Accountant, with a master's degree in business - is highly valued in the House.

Although just a freshman, he has regularly been called on to floor-manage some of the most complex legislation that only seasoned legislators normally handle.

McCoy says he is "amazed by Randy's ability to reach legislators across party, racial and sexual lines to support him."

McCoy adds: "The North

(how old-timers traditionally describe their colleagues) just love him. There's no regionalism as far as he is concerned." Every major career decision - education, politics, profession, what have you - since Pierce and his wife, Gayla, were married as Greene County teenagers 19 years ago, has been meticulously, and jointly planned, according to a timetable worked out between them at the break-

Later from 1988 to 1992, after several changes of their residence, Gayla followed much the same college track, eventually getting her degree and becoming a school teacher.

The "plan" called for him to be in Ole Miss Law School from 1992 to 1995, while Gayla taught school in Oxford. By then, Randy is a few years older than his classmates at Ole Miss and paying his way through law school largely by Pell he adds. In a recent survey by the Biloxi Sun-Herald of 30 Capitol reporters, lobbyists, legislative staffers and other legislative observers, Pierce was "Freshman of the Year and Legislator of Destiny."

Austrian-born N. Bay students 'born to dance'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Sahra and Eltlamaki, both students at North Bay Elementary School in Bay St. Louis, are not your ordinary grade schoolers. Amira, 8, and Sahra, 6, are talented performers and draw their inspiration from such classical greats as Ginger Rodgers, Ann Miller, Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly. Their musical tastes run from Ella Fitzgerald to Elvis and they would rather tap dance than watch TV.

In fact, TV watching in the Davis house, where they live with mother Alice and grandparents Ed and Wendy Davis, consists mainly of old classics, plays or musical performances.

"A quiet house is a peaceful house," said grandmother Davis. "And when you don't spend the time watching TV then there is time for so many other things."

The girls, who were born in Vienna, Austria, have performed with the Moscow Ballet in the Great Russian Nutcracker (in 2000), choreographed their own dances, performed on a Norwegian cruise line and in a production of Cheaper by the Dozen, directed by their grandfather at Gulfport Little Theater, and recently won first place trophies for group/duo and best overall talent in a talent show at the theater. Show business runs in fun," she said.

the Davis family. The girls' great-grandfather, Eddie Davis, opened two speak easies in the 1920's, one in New York and later one in Palm Beach and performed with many great entertainers, such as Jackie Gleason and Cole Porter during that time and later at Eddie and Leon's Restaurant, located in the city.

Amira choreographed a dance to an old standard, Thoroughly Modern Millie, music she chose herself, and then taught her sister Sahra the dance so they could perform together. The dance won first place in a contest at the girls' dance school last August.

Of course the girls love to do the normal things most kids do, or loved to do in past generations. They enjoy reading, jumping on their trampoline, and spending an afternoon playing French chef with a bag of flour and dishes from the kitchen, or creating objects out of dough. Tap is the dance of choice for both. Because "I like working with my feet," said Amira and because "I like stretching," said Sahra, as she demonstrated her talent by doing the splits. The girls say they are definitely thinking about a career on the stage and would like to try their hand at acting, though grandmother Davis may have other plans. "It would at least be something to do for Slaughter's firm will do detailed study of the potential annexation area, including details on its land uses, existing services and utilities, and population demographics.

One key component of the study involves whether the cost of providing services to the annexed area would be a drain on city finances.

Mayor Eddie Favre said Slaughter's first step will be another meeting with City Council to discuss how broad of an area to include in the study.

Meanwhile, council agreed it may need to hire a planning consultant to study proposed rezoning to single family residential in the area bounded by the railroad tracks, and St. Frances, Bookter and Washington streets.

WITNESS MY SIGNATURE, this 3rd day of May, WILLIAM H, PETTEY, JR., Substituted Trustee 05/09; 05/16; 05/23; 05/30/02 Complaints of illegal and unacceptable behavior in that area have escalated in recent years, and alarmed residents have made repeated trips to City Hall begging relief.

Led by resident Tina Harrell, a group of Ward 3 property owners and residents are asking that the area be stripped of all zoning that now allows apartments. Council agreed Tuesday to take the initiative and get the Planning and Zoning Commission involved in studying the zoning Otherwise, Harrell said a complicated, costly and seemingly impossible burden would lie on the residents to bring about the proposed multiple rezonings.

She again thanked police for responding to calls from the troubled residents, but said despite those efforts the situation escalates to "unbearable" noise and unlawful behavior.

"It makes you kind of afraid," Harrell said, to try to live in an area plagued by loitering intruders. The neighborhood is marred by seemingly abandoned buildings, ruble, derelict cars and illegal drug activity, residents say.

Favre took notes as Harrell and the other residents got specific about buildings and incidents. Council members said some of the problem could be attacked by an aggressive building code enforcement action.

But, rather than require the residents to petition for rezoning some 40 properties, council agreed to send a request to the and Zoning Planning Commission for study and possible action.

To fortify the city's legal position, in the event that a rezoning is challenged, officials agreed they should authorize hiring a zoning expert to help in the study.

Ward 3 wasn't the only neighborhood in town tossing complaints on council's table this week. From Ward 1, property owners complained about a newly created dirt bike "parkway" that's been created off Dunbar near Paradise Point Drive. Several entrances have been cut off Dunbar Street leading to the property's new dirt bike "figure 8's" and other Resident Heidi Taylor said New Orleans property owners allow children to use the facility on weekends, injecting loud noises in an otherwise tranquil residential neighborhood. Officials said they would study the situation.

Meanwhile, another Ward I property owner, Chatellier complained about the dusty conditions on Engman Avenue. Once a sandy road coated with shells. Engman now features a crushed limestone covering that billows clouds of dust with each passing car.

Chatellier said trees are covered with white dust from traffic, and air conditioning systems have to work overtime to cope with it.

Favre agreed that motorists have to "crawl" down the street to avoid stirring up dust. He said he's meeting with Public Works officials to come up with an overlay solution.

In other matters, council heard the complaint of a Court Street resident who was enraged to be ticketed for parking his car on the sidewalk. Brian Shaw said he objected to being singled out for a ticket, when dozens of other cars parked on the sidewalk were Shaw said police were responding to a complaint by a sheriff's deputy about Shaw's car. He also said it isn't safe to leave the car parked in the street, because drunken motorists tear through the streets in the wee hours.

Favre assured Shaw that nobody's car would be ticketed for parking on the sidewalk, unless the car is totally obstructing the sidewalk or blocking a handicapped access area. Council president Doug Seal cautioned, however, that the city isn't giving "free reign" to motorists who want to park on the sidewalk. In other matters, council:

· Discussed severely curtailing the funding it gives to Gulf Planning Regional Commission. Favre said the $17,000 that the commission wants for services this year probably should be cut to the minimum of $3,200 required for basic membership.

Belonging to the official area planning agency enables the city to receive state and federal highway funds, Favre said. But he and others are questioning the return that Bay St. Louis is getting from its investment beyond that. Sue Chamberlain. a former Gulf Regional planner, currently is doing much of the city's grant application and administration work.

• Agreed to establish clear lines of authority during Crusin' the Coast activities in town. Council member Bill Taylor said that in the past, some Crusin' activity officials from out of town have asserted control of such matters as street vendors.

Casino -- Creole Bay

ing sites I have ever seen."

The plan calls for a dockside casino complex, surrounded by, non-gaming activities which include shopping, entertainment, and sporting opportunities.

No construction start dates are available.

"Construction will not begin until funding is in place and all permits are received," stated company president Deborah A. Vitale. "Financing will come, but it will come on terms that benefit our shareholders."

Vitale also said that an ongoing proxy fight will not affect the chances of the company securing funding. "Regardless of who is in charge, this is just a fabulous location and that is the main thing.

She also said it has taken time to clean up the company and that most of its problems have been resolved. "We are light years ahead of where we were," Vitale stated. "All of our resources are now dedicated to proceeding full-speed ahead with this project." In addition to the casino, the phased development will eventually include four non-gaming hotels, five restaurant pads, an outlet mail, a regional convention center, an RV park, and condominiums at full build-out. If the project goes as planned, it could eventually have up to 3500 rooms on site.

Plans for site amenities include a marina, home base for boat tours and fishing, and an 18-hole golf course, integrated into the preserved wetlands that encompass parts of the site. The casino theme will be based on French colonial architecture inspired by the adaptation of European culture to the American Gulf Coast. The look of the buildings is expected to include deep verandas, lattice-work screens, cast iron rails and other Creole inspired decorative elements.

After arriving Interstate 10, a tree-lined boulevard will lead to a selfpark garage. Elevators will then deliver guests to within a few steps of the gaming floor. Restaurants and entertainment venues will ring the gaming areas.

A diverse mix of cuisines and dining experiences are planned. The hotel mid-rise will offer structures panoramic views of St. Louis Bay and surrounding areas. The tallest building is expected to be 12 to 15 stories.

"This is the kind of property everyone dreams about," advisory board president Steve Norton stated. "I'm reminded of what people in the real estate industry say: Location, location, location. In our case it is access, access, access. This is the premier site for ease of access. And this is a drive-in market where most people arrive by car."

Interstate 10, bordering the site, is a major East-West artery with an estimated 30,000 vehicles passing the Diamondhead exit each day, or eleven million per year, according to the Mississippi Department of Transportation. Daily traffic on I-10 increased by about 35 percent from 1992 to 1999 and is expected to continue increasing.

The site is also located near several airports. Stennis International Airport is just five miles away, Gulfport-Biloxi only 18 miles and both New Orleans International and Mobile International are slightly over an hour's drive. There is also a small airport at Diamondhead.

Jerry Eubanks, superintendent of the Gulf Islands National Seashore, said for the immediate future, Cat Island will be managed in accordance with current guidelines established for other the Mississippi coastal barrier islands within the Seashore. He reminds visitors to the island just offshore Hancock County, about half of Cat Island remains under private ownership, and he asked visitors to respect the owners' rights to privacy.

For now, only two sections of Cat Island are publicly owned. One parcel starts at the West Point and extends inward about three miles. The other portion starts at Goose Point on the island's southern tip and extends inward about one mile. "Picnicking, beach combing, fishing and other beach activities will be allowed (in public areas) year round," Eubanks said. Access by private boats or by park-licensed charter boats will be allowed, he said.

Other restrictions are:

• Camping sites are limited to 10 persons and must be on sandy beach areas void of vegetation and dune structures.

· Campfires are permitted no more than five-feet above the high tide line, below any vegetated area.

• All pets must be on a • Visitors will be asked to follow "Leave No Trace" ethics, and required to carry off their trash.

THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY®

ELAY FOR

Friday, May 10, 2002 at Hancock Medical Center Walking Track

Relay for Life is the American Cancer Society's national signature event where participants walk, run, stroll, and shuffle around a track during the community event. The festivities of the overnight event celebrate survivorship, raise money and raise awareness in the fight against cancer.

The dollars raised at Relay For Life will allow the American Cancer Society to continue funding cancer research, develop new prevention and detection programs and continue providing its expansive patient support programs.

The Following Educational Programs & Services Are Offered in South Mississippl:

Tell A Friend - A program designed to encourage women age 40 or older to have annual mammograms.

Local Tobacco Advocacy - The American Cancer Society continues its work to strengthen and enforce tobacco ordinances.

Reach To Recovery - This is a volunteer visitation program that matches breast cancer survivors with anyone who has concerns about breast cancer. Whether the person has been diagnosed with breast cancer, undergoing surgery or found a suspicious lump, a Reach To Recovery volunteer listens to the person's concerns, recommends resources and offers emotional support. Between August of 1998 and January of 2001 over 200 women in Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties had a Reach To Recovery visit.

Look Good Feel Better - This program is designed to help women, undergoing cancer treatment, learn to cope with the appearance related side effects of treatment. It is designed to help them regain a sense of self-confidence and control over their lives.

"Relay For Life is not just about raising money, it's about raising awareness and bringing attention to this horrible disease," said Kerry Clark from the American Cancer Society. "Many of the participants are cancer survivors themselves and they are living proof of the strides we have made in the fight against cancer."

The Following Patient Support Programs Are Offered in South Mississippi:

National Cancer Information Center: Callers from Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone Counties can reach a trained Cancer Information Specialist 24-Hours a Day, 7-Days a week, 365 Days a year through the American Cancer Society's toll-free Cancer Information Line. 1-800-ACS-2345.

Support Groups: These groups help patients and their family members with the physical and emotional stress of coping with a cancer diagnosis and treatment.

I Can Cope: Facing cancer can be one of the most significant challenges. a person encounters. I Can Cope. helps people meet this challenge by clarifying facts and myths through a series of educational classes.

"Unique You" Boutique: The American Cancer Society offers free of charge, a selection of wigs, hats, scarves, breast prosthesis and bras to cancer patients in the Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone

Hope Lodge: It's tough enough to fight cancer without fighting a financial battle as well. Thanks to the American Cancer Society's Hope Lodge in New Orleans, a solution is on the way. Hope Lodge will offer a temporary home, as well as a supportive environment to patients and their families receiving cancer treatment in the New Orleans area. The American Cancer Society's Hope Lodge is projected to open in December of 2003.

An Invitation to Cancer Survivors & Their Families

We are honoring cancer survivors and their families at a very special ceremony as part of the American Cancer Society's Relay For Life in Bay St. Louis/Waveland The ceremony salutes all cancer survivors at 7:00 p.m. with survivors walking the opening victory lap symbolizing the united fight against cancer. Registration will begin at 6:00 p.m. at the Relay For Life survivor registration area. Survivors and their families are invited to join us for a celebration (refreshments included) in the Survivors' Tent prior to and following the victory lap.

Stennis takes daughters to work

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Stennis Space Center held its 10th annual Our Daughters to Work Program recently. Employees' daughters and their friends in grades 7-12 got a chance to join parents at the workplace and get an idea of just what they do all day.

For many of the girls this was a first time experience, for many others it was their first time at the Space Center.

The purpose of the program is to show young women the many contributions that women make in the work place as well stressing the importance of math and sciences in educa-

"Whatever you do in life, you are going to need math and science," said Wanda Foley. "You can get involved and make a difference today at your school, in your community and at your church."

The program included several hands on sessions focusing on the concepts of computer science, engineering and technology, including a digital photography workshop, and a rocketbuilding competition.

Several groups participated, and each group followed their own agenda. Tshirts were issued when the young women arrived to distinguish between groups.

The day concluded with hands-on exhibits, featuring agency and contractor

Hancock Little League to celebrate opening day

League-Girls Fastpitch Softball at Lakeshore Field will hold opening day ceremonies Saturday May 11 beginning at 10 a.m.

The opening day theme be "Honoring Hometown Heroes," a Little League initiative aimed at dedicating a special day to those who freely risk their lives every day as part of their jobs and to thank them for their sacrifice.

Each player will receive a special patch distributed by Little League Baseball, Inc. to honor the event and wear proudly on her uniform this upcoming season. Honorees from local police and fire departments and the medical field and military have been invited to attend. Each will receive special certificate acknowledging our community appreciation to those who go to work daily with the knowledge that they may called upon at any time to risk their lives for others.

The ceremony will highlight the Little League motto: character, courage and loyalty, and the belief that molding our children into superior citizens is far more important than superior athletes.

National Anthem festivities will be hosted by Patriotic Productions of Slidell, a sports production company with personnel experienced in field presen-

Hancock County Little tations for many major national sporting events including several Super Bowls.

The company promises a heart-warming event that will include player participation from the league. "Please join us for opening day and follow our league throughout the season for some of the best in fastpitch softball action,' said Little League President Herb Sires. The league continually strives to provide a superior product unlike any other in the area by getting parents and friends involved as volunteers. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer, contact Frank Yanok at 467-4220 or Herb Sires at 467-1291.

The league will hold a rummage sale Saturday, May 18 from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. and has collected many items from among league participants and other friends. If you would like to make a donation, call Walter Gagnon at 467-6598 or Wayne Keeton at 467-7418. The league will also hold a benefit at Lakeshore VFW 4808 on Saturday, June 8 beginning at 10 a.m. There will be dinners available to dine in or delivered, as well as live bands, a turkey shoot, auction and several raffles and promises a good time to all who attend. # Dale to speak at PRCC graduation

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

Pearl River Community College's 92nd commencement exercises are set for Friday, May 10, in M.R. White Coliseum on the Poplarville campus.

Three services will be held, beginning with the vocational-technical ceremony at 10 a.m., followed by the pinning ceremony of the Associate Degree Nursing Department at 1 p.m. Academic graduates will march at 3:30 p.m.

Top students in each division will deliver ceremonial speeches before degrees and certificates of proficiency are presented.

Graduation week at PRCC actually kicks off at 6 Thursday in Hattiesburg with the Dental Hygiene Pinning Ceremony. Fourteen students will be recognized in ceremonies at the Allied Health Center on the Forrest County campus.

Some 230 students will graduate during the vocational-technical ceremony Friday morning. Nikki Lee of Picayune will give the invocation and Russell Stuckey of Columbia will give the benediction. Dr. James Sones, Jr.,

Vocational-Dean of Technical Affairs at PRCC, will present the roll call of Associate Degrees in Science Applied Certificates of Proficiency.

The Associate Degree Nursing Pinning Ceremony will feature 41 candidates.

The college speaker will be Deric Dearman of Picayune. Terri Lynn Magee of Poplarville will give the invocation and Shermanda Brumfield of Hattiesburg will give the benediction. The presentation of pins will be handled by Peggy Dease, the Associate Degree Nursing Director, and Pam Sophomore Waddle, Nursing Instructor.

Peggy Broomhall, Coordinator of Sophomore Nursing, will handle the presentation of namepins.

The academic ceremony will include some 130 graduates. Libby Pigott of Picayune will give the invocation and Sergiv Ivanenko of Kiln will give the benediction.

Commissioner Insurance George Dale will be the speaker for commencement exercises. Dale, a PRCC graduate and Prentiss native, will address the vocational-technical and academic graduates.

He served as a teacher, coach, principal and administrator in the Moss Point public school system prior to appointment Administrative Assistant to former Gov. Bill Waller in 1972. In 1975, he was first elected Commissioner of Insurance, becoming the youngest insurance commissioner elected in Mississippi history.

Dale, a graduate of Mississippi College, currently is the longest-serving elected insurance commissioner in the country. He has been active in volunteer work for a number of charities and organizations, including Mississippi College, the YMCA and the Mississippi Association.

Natasha Higginbotham's fifth grade students at Hancock North Central Elementary participated in an essay contest for an Earth Day project. The title was, 'How I can make a difference preserving our environment.' Ellis C. Cuevas, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee chairman, and Lynn Bell, committee member and immediate past president of the Hancock County Master Gardeners, presented achievement certificates and checks from the chamber to the top three essay winners. Winners were selected by the school's faculty. Hancock North Central Elementary has five fifth grade classes with a total of 103 students, and the awards were presented at a school assembly on Friday. First place winner was Kyle Corr, receiving $25; second place winner, Brittany Mendel, received $15; and third place winner, Felecia Necalse, received $10. Ms. Higginbotham also presented each participant with a special certificate. Those in photo are, from left, Felecia Necalse, Brittany Mendel, Kyle Corr. and

'Jazz in the Pass' heats up this Sunday

azz up your life. The fourth annual Jazz in the Pass Festival will be Sunday this from 11 a.m.

until 8 p.m. in Memorial Park, Scenic Drive, Pass Christian.

This will be a day of great music, including local, national and international entertainers. The program includes the following:

• The Patrick Weathers Band is from Mississippi and Weathers' style leans towards folk, country and Cajun. Weathers is a singer/songwriter/poet extraordinaire as well as a screenplay writer and a TV and radio personality. His music has been influenced by Elvis Presley, Hank Williams and Bob Dylan, to name a few.

• The Mississippi Coast Jazz Society is celebrating its 25th year of providing the Coast with the wonderful sounds of Traditional and Dixieland Jazz. They are also to be commended for providing jazz enrichment concerts in approximately 30 local schools.

Look for their membership table at Jazz in the Pass. For further information on the club you may contact Martin O'Neal, president (864-9401) or William Sackett, public relations and marketing, who will be featured as the host and maestro for the Jazz in the Pass.

• The Gordon Merrill Jazz Trio has brought the talents of three veteran musicians together to produce a memorable and

teer her entire life with scouting, churches, libraries, theaters, arts, politics, school mentoring programs and jazz festivals. After moving to New Orleans in 1986, she became involved with the promotion of jazz and jazz organizations, being either an affiliate, a member and/or on the Board of Directors Metropolitan Jazz Club, the New Orleans Jazz Club, MS Gulf Coast Jazz Society, West St. Tammany Jazz Club and The Jazz Society of Pensacola, Inc. She served as co-chairwoman for advertising, MS Gulf Coast Jazz Society Festival and participated in their Jazz Education Program, and the Jazz & Heritage Festival

Commemorative Cachet Ceremonies for Doc Cheatham and Louis Armstrong and the New Orleans Jazz Club's fundraiser. She also assisted with arrangements for the New Orleans International Music Colloquium held in April 2001, in conjunction with the French Quarter Festival, as well as serving as the coordinator between the New Orleans Jazz Club and the University of New Orleans in organizing the Armstrong Louis Centennial Conference and Festival held August 2001.

The first Jazz in the Pass was held on May 8, 1999 as Pass Christian's contribution to the Coast Tricentennial celebration.

According to the organzation website, "The Jazz in the Pass mission ... is to continue celebrating our heritage with the emphasis on the joy of music, which is a universal language that instinctively encourages community spirit. The festival also introduces and encourages students to participate with all types of instruments and music."

Second Saturday Artwalk

Hit the 'hot spots', meet the artists, musicians

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO

This Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m., downtown Bay St. Louis will celebrate Second Saturday with live music, artists' openings at the galleries, refreshments offered at many of the businesses and folks strolling the streets. Most shops and galleries are open all day, but the special events happen from 5 to 8. You are invited to join us.

"HOT SPOTS"

BAY CRAFTS

107 North Beach Blvd. Come Meet The Girls and their creator, Joseph Derr. He is a self-taught artist, born in Reading, Pa., now a resident of Bay St. Louis. He has worked in media including oils, bronze, wood, ceramics and also constructions made from household utensils.

Derr's work has been exhibited in galleries nationwide in cities such as New York, Philadelphia, LaHanna (Hawaii), Key West, Miami and also in Bermuda and Acapulco: His sculptures are in collections worldwide.

The most recent sculp tures he has created are whimsical figures constructed from wood. These unique pieces are brightly-colored characters that have wit and humor.

Depending on his latest inspiration the final outcome can be a single figure. dancing couples or figures placed in mini-settings of different themes.

Working from a preconceived idea, Derr builds the sculptures from 75 or more parts that are nailed, glued and doweled together.

He then primes and paints the wood in polychromes of vivid colors. The active brush strokes he uses bring life to the figure, and from the raw materials comes an image with a strong presence.

These light-hearted abstract figures have primitive qualities lined with an element of sophistication. A viewer in search of escape into a playful imaginary world will find these sculptures captivating.

Artists are 'in residence' at Loft galleries

Donna Davenport, owner of Loft Studios at 144 Main St. in Bay St. Louis, will be joined by nine other artists Saturday to celebrate the grand opening of the new Loft Studio Gallery and Loft Consignment Studio Gallery.

Last month, Davenport "subdivided" the existing Loft Studios to make room for a gallery on one side, and working artists' studios on the other. Several artists time-share the space on a rotating basis, working together to create their own respective artworks - and at the same time, improving each other's creations.

"It's been very beneficial for the artists to work together in their own studio space," Davenport said. "It's been inspirational for them. When an artist rubs elbows with another artist, the

Buddhist yogini finds the true spirit of Serenity

Serenity, at 126 1/2 Main St., will welcome "yogini" and artist Georgia Anne Sears on Saturday.

Sears' "date with Serenity" is fitting, since it comes just days before she plans to begin a 40-month stint at a traditional Tibetan Buddhist retreat in California under the guidance of the Venerable Lama Tharchin Rinpoche.

And it won't be her first retreat – she actually spent a

Blank, Saccoccia share spotlight at Quarter Moon

Gail Blank and Marlene Saccoccia will be sharing the spotlight in a show of new work at Quarter Moon Gallery in Bay St. Louis.

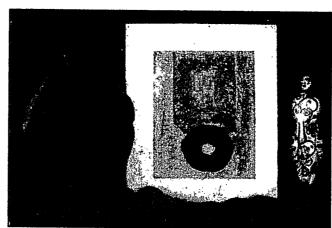

The show, entitled "Hand in Hand," will feature an extraordinary variety of works, ranging from monoprints to one-of-a-kind wearables. It opens with an artists' reception on the 2nd Saturday Artwalk, May 11.

The friendship between the two has Pass Christian artists lasted for many years, but it took a print-making class from Gwen Impson to bring them together artistically.

Saccoccia explains.
"I'd been working with print-making for over 10 years. Gail had established herself as a wellknown ceramist, but she began experimenting with printing several years ago when she lived in London. When she moved back, we began to compare notes and final-

Artists' reception, anniversary

The Bungalow, 136 work, but you can also Main Street, Bay St. Louis, invites everyone to come to the artists' reception in the Camellia Room Saturday May 11 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. The Camellia Room is located at the rear of the shop/gallery.

Local artists Richie Zitzmann, Sory Yager, Kathi Calhoun, Judith Anton, Brian Nettles, Yvonne Brown, Zoe Bowers and Sharon Lutz will be displaying their works of art. You can enjoy the refreshments as you admire the stained glass, watercolors, ceramic Mardi Gras masks, pottery, quilting and other works of art.

In the shop you will have an opportunity to see not only other pieces of art-browse and admire the estate linens, collectibles, gift items, and depression glass. Quilting and stained glass supplies are available in the shop. If you have always wanted to learn how to quilt or do stained glass, classes are offered, just ask for information.

"The Bungalow will be celebrating its third anniversary May 11, so please come by and help us celebrate," said spokesperson. This is a unique shop/gallery featuring local artists, each working in a different medium, and gifts and collectibles that enable you to decorate your home with a local, casual atmosphere or with formal linens and

Fire Dogs limp out of Houma with 26-7 loss; now 2-3 in NIFL

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

The Mississippi Fire Dogs were blasted by the Houma Bayou Bucks 26-7 in Houma. The loss dropped the Fire Dogs to 2-3 overall in the NIFL while Houma improved to 2-4.

Injuries and big plays were the keys to the loss for the Fire Dogs against Houma. Mississippi lost starting quarterback/offensive coordinator Rayburn to a neck injury in the first half on a sack. He did not return to the field. Backup Virgil Gardner went down in the waning moments of the contest.

Rayburn commented, "We were off balance from the start. The team was not able to find a groove. Our defense played well enough for us to win but our offense did not come to play."

Former Fire Dogs wide receiver Kevin Heard blew past the Mississippi defensive secondary for two first half touchdowns. totaled 82 yards on his two receptions in the game.

Heard scored early in the first quarter on a pass from Aubrey Jones and added his

The Fire Dogs reached the Bayou Bucks' one-yardline with about ten minutes left in the second quarter but were unable to convert. Backup quarterback

Virgil Gardner hooked up with Lamont Woodberry early on in the third quarter with a 42-yard touchdown; however, that was all the Fire Dogs were able to muster.

Two big plays in the second half put the game out of reach for the Fire Dogs. Daryl Hamilton returned a Gardner interception for a 19-7 lead. Sullivan Beard returned a missed field goal attempt by Billy Coachys to make the final score.

Gardner went down with an injury for Mississippi with :28 left to play in the game. Woodberry came in to run out the clock at quarterback for Mississippi.

Lady Wildcats edged in championship

Pearl River Community College's Lady Wildcat softball team wrapped up its 2002 season here Sunday in the MACJC-Region XXIII Tournament played at Westside City Park, falling to Mississippi Gulf Coast 2-1 in eight innings for the coveted championship.

PRCC played 29 innings over four games Sunday, including three battles with defending champion Gulf Coast in the final day of the event. PRCC, which finished the year at 20-18 overin six innings via the eightrun rule over Mississippi Delta on Saturday, then followed later that afternoon with a hard-fought 13-7 romp over host Northeast Mississippi.

The Lady Wildcats fell to the losers bracket after opening Sunday's action with a 5-3 defeat in their first match-up with the Bulldogs, Lady trimmed Hinds 1-0 to make it to the championship round. PRCC won its second Gulf Coast match up of the day 6-2, snapping the nationally-ranked Lady Bulldogs' 22-game winning streak, before the deciding contest for the title.

In the championship game, Pearl River blew an opportunity early, loading the bases with one out in couldn't cash in. In the following frame, the Lady Wildcats put two on with one out and still couldn't cash in.

The Lady Bulldogs, who improved to 28-9 with the win, grabbed a short-lived 1-0 edge in the bottom of the fifth when Jennifer Patton walked and eventually scored off Samantha Johnson's triple. But PRCC answered with the tying run in the top of the ensuing frame, when Mindy Ladner of Hancock County led off all, opened the tournament with a triple and scored off a with a six-inning 8-0 victory single by Felycia Andrews of Oak Grove. One out later, back-to-back walks put runners at first and second, but Gulf Coast snagged a hardhit line drive down thirdbase by Christy Wilson of Lafayette, La., to thwart the go-ahead threat.

Only Gulf Coast's Cilver Armstrong managed a base hit over the next two frames, but Johnson walked to open the bottom of the eighth, then Masheka Davis reached via an error to set the stage for Ashlee Nodhturft's sacrifice for Johnson's game-winning score. Both teams finished the game with four hits each. Brandi Tynes of West Marion led Pearl River with a double, while Andrews, Ladner, and Candy Coggin of West Marion all singled. the top of the second, but Armstrong paced MGCCC with a double and a single, while Johnson tripled and Nodhturft singled.

Johnson was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Armstrong, who pitched the first five-and-two-thirds innings, walking three. Wilson was the losing pitcher, striking out four, walking one, and hitting one bat-

PRCC played the game error free, while Gulf Coast had two miscues.

In the Lady Wildcats' 6-2 win over the Lady Bulldogs, Pearl River went up 1-0 in the top of the first, but Gulf Coast answered with two go-ahead runs in the bottom of the frame.

PRCC went up for good in the top of the third with three runs, climaxed by Ladner's two-RBI single to make it 3-2. The Lady Wildcats weren't quite finished, adding two more in the top of the fifth off a hit batter, a single by Melissa Speights of West Marion, a sacrifice by Ladner, and a two-RBI double by Candice Hyatt of Hancock County.

Gulf Coast left two base runners stranded in the bottom of the frame,

The Lady Wildcats finished with nine hits and three errors, led by Ladner and Speights with two singles each. Hyatt and Georgelynn Bennett of Pearl River Central doubled, while Tynes, Wilson, and Alicia Horne of Hattiesburg High managed singles.

Wilson was the winning pitcher, while Johnson was the loser.

In Saturday's opening game versus Gulf Coast. PRCC led 1-0 in the top of the second, but the Lady Bulldogs answered with a game-winning three runs in the bottom of the frame. Pearl River made it 3-2 in the top of the fourth, but Gulf Coast added two more in the bottom of the innings to make it 5-2. The Lady Wildcats salvaged a solo run in the top of the sixth to end the scoring.

Ladner led the Ladv Wildcats' seven-hit attack with a double and a single. while Speights had two singles, and Horne, Hyatt, and Tynes singled.

Gulf Coast will now represent Region XXIII at next week's district tournament set for Enid, Okla. The NJCAA National Tournament is set for May 16-19 in Phoenix, Ariz.

The Four Tops at Casino Magic Friday

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis announces The Four Tops will be performing Friday, May 10 at 9 p.m. Tickets are $14.95, $19.95, and $24.95 and are available at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, or at any Ticketmaster location.

The Four Tops have been marveling audiences with their unique blend of pure vocal power and unparalleled harmonies since 1954.

They have brought to the American people and the world a sound so singular that it is woven into the fabric of American pop music. Hits like "Baby, I Need Your Lovin'," "I Can't Help Myself (Sugar Pie Honey Bunch)" and "Reach Out, I'll Be There" topped the charts and became anthems of a generation.

The Tops were a sensation abroad as well. At a time when the U.S. charts were dominated by the Beatles and the Rolling Stones, The Four Tops sat like kings at number one in England.

Later came more hits like "Ain't No Woman (Like the One I Got)," "Keeper of The Castle," "Are You Man Enough" and "Am I My Brothers' Keeper?"

The Four Tops were stunning audiences with their live performances, sweating their soul on stage proving that their blend of emotional stage persona and unfor-

Let mom enjoy breakfast in bed

One of the special perks about being a mother is being treated as queen for a day on Mother's Day. Although it comes only once a year, Mother's Day is a time when moms can kick up their heels and enjoy a much-needed day of pampering.

Part of the excitement surrounding Mother's Day is the traditional breakfast in bed presentation to which a mom can look forward. (The children mean well even if breakfast is presented at 5 a.m. Hopefully dad can stall for more

To avoid some crazy concoctions that the kids may whip up, arm dad with a recipe that can get all minds working toward the same goal - a delicious, stress-free Mother's Day breakfast. Try this recipe courtesy of Web-Holidays.com.

Orange-Whipped French Toast Serves 2 to 4

- eggs, separated and at room tempera-
- ture teaspoon granulated sugar
  - tablespoons milk Salt and cinnamon to taste Drop of orange extract
  - to 2 tablespoons butter
- slices French bread (or your favorite bread)

Whip egg whites to soft peaks. Add sugar and whip to stiff peaks. In a separate bowl, whisk together the egg yolks, milk, salt, cinnamon and orange extract. Fold into the egg mixture.

Heat a saucepan with butter. Dip bread into egg mixture. Place in saucepan and fry until golden, turn and fry the other side until golden.

Serve with crispy bacon, fresh fruit with yogurt and mom's favorite coffee or tea.

choose another special gift has arrived. Take a timehonored tradition and see the new possibilities: give mom a cookbook. Is your wife or mom an experienced cook? Good cooks love cookbooks so they can discover innovative ways to revamp meals. Maybe mom's cooking skills aren't all she wants them to be and she would appreciate a little guidance.

If she's a new mom there are life changes that young children bring about, including the need to create a meal while keeping eyes and ears on the playpen or the backyard. Mom would love the creativity and confidence that the newest Betty Crocker cookbook provides. She would feel as if she had a friend in the kitchen.

And there is more to consider, especially just what the meal provider - mom is hoping for in a cookbook. She wants to make the best, and if need be, quickest meals possible for family and friends, and to at the same time. There are also subtler dreams: to make the kitchen the family's favorite place and make the meals a central point of the family's well-being.

Although most mothers get used to doing what they do without fanfare, they wouldn't mind a word or two of congratulations for a job well done.

They would understand if nobody actually said anything and that the comfortable feeling a good meal helps create isn't always something people think about articulating. Mothers do hope, though, that some credit is given to the care and effort put into mealfeel creative and confident of Betty Crocker's Cookbook ($27.50) is a wonderful gift The publishers idea. (Hungry Minds, Inc.) call it "Big Red" because the book is big, comprehensive and very red. It's also very readable - with hundreds of photos, great food facts, kitchen tips and meal plans. Novice cooks will find a compendium of knowledge; experienced cooks will find new recipes and new ideas along with classic favorites.

Husbands, children and friends who want to give a perfect gift just need to wrap a bow — a big beautiful bow — around this book. ## Saturday -- Old Town Artwalk

PAPER MOON 220 Main Street

Reception 6:30 to 8:30. Mixed media artists use the medium of Art Stamps to create original works of art, journals, albums and cards at "Paper Moon" for May's Second Saturday.

Featured artists Susie Ranager, Michelle Kolf and Vicki Niolet will showcase works using images derived from rubber art stamps on textured and handmade papers and with paints, pigments, found objects and tin containers.

Susie Ranager from Ocean Springs manipulates images with metallic accents, Xeroxed copies and paint to create mixed media works.

Bay St. Louis artist Michelle Kolf uses stamped, layered and embossed collage elements with fabric and tin boxes to create unique photo albums and container art.

Collage artist Vicki Niolet embellishes handmade paper with stamped images and found objects in cards, journals and mixes media constructions.

The rubber stamp evolved from a simple timesaving tool into a legitimate art form with serious advocates. With such artists as Nick Bantok (of Griffin and Sabine fame) making his symbols and characters available in stamps and reproducing rich colors in inks, every artist has access to a new world of inspiration. Rubber stamping has become so popular in the last decade that there is a whole subculture of stampers that range from hobbyists and scrapbookers to professional graphic artists, Different genres of art revolve around the stamping community: "Mall Art" and "Tag Art" are two popular categories in which artists create unique malleable designs and graphics. The show will continue through June 1.

ly took a class together at with creating - making studio, Gwen's Turquoise Turtle,"

Blank says the two women have a mutual admiration of each other's work. "It's very inspirational to be working in a studio alongside someone who's got a tremendous amount of creativity. You start feeding off each other's good energy. One imaginative spark can start a whole creative fire."

'We've actually collaborated on some pieces," Blank continues. "East Indian women traditionally paint their hands with henna on their wedding day, using these intricate patterns. Marlene and I took those patterns and made plates out of them, coming up with some extraordinary hand images."

Blank says, "The whole idea of the hand has to do something by hand that comes through your soul. But it also stands for friendship. That's why we used it as a theme for the show."

Gail Blank is an awardwinning potter as well as a recognized print-maker. A 30-year veteran of art shows and exhibits, she's also been a teacher of ceramics and director of the Del La Vega Center in California. A winner of many awards, she has twice been the recipient of the prestigious Peter Anderson

Potter's Award. Blank will be featuring several new ceramic pieces in the show. "I've used a technique called "repousse." It's when a figure is formed in relief by pushing the clay from the underside. It gives a very three dimensional effect."

The artist has created several large vessels as well as wall plaques and icons. Feminine images abound. "These pieces are all about a reverence and a celebration of the female."

Marlene Saccoccia will also be adding to her artistic repertoire in this show. "I'm drawn to both printmaking and fiber. This year I'm experimenting with linens, using a stitch dyeing technique where the stitching actually acts as a resist on the fabric and creates a pattern. I've designed a line of very simple elegant jackmost of the fabrics."

Saccoccia has been working with the ancient Shibori technique of dyeing fabrics for several years. The fabrics are manipulated in many ways before color is applied, resulting in striking patterns. Her Shiboridyed silk scarves have become popular fashion accessories on the Gulf

"I'll also be showing wall hangings made from fabrics," she says. "These are my 'traveling pieces.' This type of work is very portable, so I can work away from home and create scenes inspired by the places that I'm visiting.'

The show, "Hand in Hand," will open May 11 and run through June 7. The artists' reception will be held during the Bay St. Louis 2nd Saturday ets and skirts that make the Artwalk on the evening of the 11th from 5 to 9 p.m.

> Both Blank Saccoccia will be on hand to discuss their work and explain techniques. The evening will include live music and refreshments. Quarter Moon Gallery is located in Old Town at 146 Main Street, Bay St. L'ouis.

year in India in the early 90s, and studied with the Dalai Lama.

Sears is a Reiki master practitioner, has taught yoga, meditation, massage therapy, traditional Chinese medicine, vibrational medicine and Shamanism and has conducted retreats in Orleans and St. Tammany Parish.

Jerry Dixon, Serenity's owner, said Sears is "a very spiritual person," and had just emerged from an isolated retreat last year when terrorist attacks occurred on Sept. 11.

That one day motivated her to begin this new which, oddly enough, will be exactly three years, three months. three weeks and three days.

While there, she hopes to "search for that peace in my soul" and "come back with a better sense of clarity on how to attain that. Then I will be able to impart that and help the world in a small way."

Spears has a degree in painting and printmaking, and will be selling some of her paintings, mandalas and clay works - many of them created while on Buddhist retreat - to help finance her personal journey to higher spiritual enlightenment.

quality of the work just improves."

Ceramics artist Christine. Johnson Lucas agrees. Along with her husband, photographer Martin Lucas, she time-shares space at the Loft.

"It's a nice way to get some exposure ...," she said, "and it's nice mingling with the other artists.' Other artists who participate in .the Loft program include Paula Leoni, Shirley Cameron, Pam Marshall, Boryana, Santina Loiacano, Michelle Kolf and Carole Bowman.

All of the artists will display their work during Second Saturday, and meet with the public during the Loft's reception from 5-8 p.m., with refreshments.

Also from 5-8 p.m. Saturday, Diamondheadbased portrait artists Batina will be at the loft sketching portraits of patrons by request.
